Kennedy rules out race for presidency in 1976

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said today he would not be a candidate for president or vice president in 1976. "I will not accept the nomination. I will not accept a draft," he said, adding: "My primary responsibilities are at home."

The Massachusetts Democrat said his decision was final and unconditional.

He said, "I would be unable to make a full commitment to a campaign for the presidency."

Kennedy, 42, brother of the late President John F. Kennedy and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, both of whom were assassinated, said he made the decision after discussing it with his wife.

He made the announcement at a Boston news conference. His wife Joan, who has been in rest homes twice in recent months, was at his side.

Kennedy said he expected that he would have been able to win the Democratic nomination if he had decided to seek it.

Kennedy said his announcement "will permit others who have been interested in gaining the nomination the chance for exposure during this campaign."

He said, "The real question before the people is who's going to come up with some solutions to our economic problems."

Asked what effect the Chappaquiddick incident of 1969 had on his decision, Kennedy said: "This decision

... would have been made irrespective of the tragedy that happened in 1969. ... Were I to run, it would have been a factor that would have been raised."

Mary Jo Kopechne, a former secretary for Robert Kennedy, was killed when a car driven by Kennedy went off a bridge at Chappaquiddick Island off the Massachusetts coast.

Kennedy said "I can live with my testimony" about the Chappaquiddick incident and why there was a delay in reporting the accident and added: "Although I regret the incident I would have been able to focus the campaign on other issues."

The senator was reminded that he had earlier said he would not make a decision until the middle of next year and was asked why he had made his announcement earlier. "I had set the middle part of next year as the outside time for a decision," he said, "but I always felt in my own mind that when I made a firm decision I would announce it. During the course of the summer I made a firm decision ..."

Saying that he would be unable to give a full commitment to the campaign, he stated: "I simply cannot do that to my wife, children and other members of my family."

He said he made the announcement

EDWARD M. KENNEDY

now "in order to ease the apprehensions of my family." He called his decision, "firm, final and unconditional. There is absolutely no circumstance or event that would alter this decision."

Kennedy said he would be a candidate for re-election as senator in 1976.

Kennedy is the sole surviving son of the late Joseph P. Kennedy and is the guardian of his slain brothers' children.

Last November, Kennedy's son, Edward Jr., lost part of a leg because of bone cancer.

Kennedy had been considered by many observers a favorite to win the Democratic presidential nomination if he sought it, although he has become embroiled in a controversy with some colleagues regarding proposed campaign reform legislation.

He encountered hecklers on a campaign trip to Indiana last week and drew mixed political notices on a visit to California to campaign for congressional candidates. He also got a stormy reception here recently at a meeting involving school busing.

Kennedy's major handicap, however, was considered the Chappaquiddick incident and he had said that if he decided to run, he would reveal the details of the accident.

Asked today if his decision not to run meant he would not answer questions about Chappaquiddick, Kennedy said no.

SPECIAL DELIVERY — Robert Chapdelaine displays special delivery letter that was lost by the U.S. Postal Service for a year before being delivered to him. The letter tells Chapdelaine to report for oral exams for the California Highway Patrol, but because he never got the letter, Chapdelaine joined the U.S. Air Force. Chapdelaine now wants out of the Air Force.

Assault case opens

Jeff man guilty of reduced charge

Fayette County Common Pleas Court has been busy the past few days. A jury trial was held Friday on a felonious assault charge against a Jeffersonville man, and another jury trial began Monday morning on the same charge against a Washington C. H. man.

David Brown, 35, of Jeffersonville, was found guilty of a reduced charge Friday, and Lester LeMaster, 24, Washington C.H., appeared before a jury in Fayette County Common Pleas Court Monday.

Brown was arrested by Washington C.H. police March 7 after he allegedly used a knife to assault a Jeffersonville youth at a local tavern. He was charged with a felonious assault, a second degree felony, and faced a prison term of up to 15 years.

AFTER HEARING the evidence and deliberating for several hours, however, the jury returned a verdict of guilty to the lesser included offense of simple assault, a misdemeanor. Sentencing on the charge, which carries a maximum of six months, will be rendered at a later date by Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman.

Brown had been charged with stabbing Jeffrey Long, 18, of Jeffersonville, after an argument at the Rocking Chair Inn, 428 Wilson St.

The defense counselor, John C. Bryan, contended, that the defendant had acted in self-defense after having been beaten by Long. To support the argument, Bryan entered into evidence the police "mug shots" of Brown at the time of his arrest. They showed his face had been badly beaten.

The defense also brought to light the fact that Long had been drinking alcohol the morning of the altercation.

Military deserters to begin Camp Atterbury processing

CAMPATTERBURY, Ind. (AP) — A military charter flight brings 75 military deserters to this one-time Army basic training camp today to begin processing under President Ford's conditional amnesty plan.

Atterbury is to be the central processing point for military deserters seeking amnesty. Officials said another 18 are at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, about 30 miles north in Indianapolis, where the first 27 men to turn themselves in already have been processed.

There was no indication where the charter flight was originating, or where the deserters had been collected. But a Ft. Harrison spokesman said 75 deserters would arrive today at Indianapolis's Weir Cook Airport and be brought here by bus.

The camp, quarters during World War II and the Korean conflict for 250,000 recruits and a mustering-out facility for about 500,000 after the 1941-45 war, can process 150 men daily. Its present capacity is about 5,000 men.

Although the deserters will not be incarcerated, some 40 military policemen have been sent here from Fort Knox, Ky. Officials said the men will be free to come and go as their schedules permit.

The deserters will be hustled through about four days of processing. Records will be checked to make sure they're eligible for the program. Then they will receive physical examinations and legal counseling. Financial records also will be checked to determine whether they are due back pay.

Before leaving here, participants must sign a loyalty oath and will be issued undesirable discharges. After two years of alternative service, the discharges may be changed to clemency discharges.

After military processing, the Joint Alternative Service Board at Ft. Harrison probably will have decided how much alternative service must be completed for the deserter to earn a "clemency discharge." Officials said the alternative service is not required and the individual may elect to take the undesirable discharge and leave.

Some deserters may be allowed to return to active duty, but must enter at the lowest rank and agree to serve for two years. To be eligible, one must have served in Southeast Asia and have received a decoration.

FAYETTE COUNTY Sheriff Don Thompson warned today that "fly-by-night" painters are working in Fayette County again. ...

He said they are primarily out-of-state paint crews that contract paint jobs in the rural area and especially farm type buildings. ... Sheriff Thompson said their method of operation is to state a price and later, after painting, raise the price in some instances as much as double the original estimate. ... The main problem, the sheriff stated, is after painting the first rain removes most of the paint. ... He said that his office had received several complaints on this type of operation and one such complaint received last Saturday involved a $1,200 project that washed off with the past week's rainfall. ... Checks given the fraudulent painters are quickly cashed in order that payment cannot be stopped on the checks, Sheriff Thompson said. ...

The sheriff also advised that rural

Burn dead from hurricane

SAN PEDRO SULA, Honduras (AP) — Rescue workers are burning the dead left by Hurricane Fifi in northeast Honduras to prevent outbreaks of disease adding to the toll of one of the worst catastrophes in Central American history.

As refugees began straggling back to their devastated towns and villages and relief supplies started to arrive from abroad, officials said at least 5,000 bodies had been found. They estimated this toll would double when all reports were in.

They said the storm, which hit the region with winds of 110 to 130 miles an hour and torrential rains on Thursday night, drove 150,000 persons from their homes, wiped out most of the banana crop and virtually destroyed the cities of Choloma, Omoa and Trujillo.

Floodwaters turned the rich Ulua River valley from San Pedro Sula to the coast into a lake 20 miles wide at some points. Thousands of persons were reported still stranded on rooftops or in trees, but a shortage of helicopters and fuel delayed their rescue.

Col. Ruben Villanueva of the National Emergency Relief Committee said damage from the storm was estimated at $1.8 billion in the San Pedro Sula region alone. An executive of United Brands, one of the two major producers of bananas, the country's chief export, estimated that 90 per cent of the crop was destroyed.

President Oswaldo Lopez Arellano flew over the flooded area on Sunday and told newsmen the situation was "terribly sad." He made a new appeal for food, clothes, medicine and vaccines.

The first plane loads of emergency aid, including a complete field hospital from Cuba, arrived at nearby La Lima airport on Sunday. U.S. Air Force C130 transports brought boats, lifejackets, food, drinking water and other emergency supplies from the Panama Canal Zone.

The United States also has sent trucks and helicopters, desperately needed in the search for stranded persons. Mexico sent 10 planes. Costa Rica's minister of health brought a field hospital. Venezuela, El Salvador and Guatemala sent medical aid and rescue workers.

Villanueva said Choloma, a town of 7,000, was 95 per cent destroyed; Omoa, a town of 14,000 on the coast, was 90 per cent destroyed; and the port of Trujillo, which had 20,300 people, was totally destroyed.

Two offshore islands — Utila and Jose Santos Guardiola — still had not been heard from, Villanueva said. He said a third, Roatan, with a population of 5,000, was 80 per cent destroyed.

Rocky bares finances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller told the Senate Rules Committee today he earned nearly $47 million and paid more than $21 million in taxes over the past 10 years.

The former New York governor opened his vice presidential confirmation hearings with a 72-page statement, crammed with financial data about the Rockefellers' worldwide investments and tidbits of family and personal history.

He promised that, "should I become confirmed and should Congress request, I will place immediately all my securities which I own outright" into a blind trust while he retains federal office.

Sen. Howard M. Cannon, D-Nev., the chairman of the Rules Committee, said on Sunday the panel will consider that possibility, but he expressed reservations about imposing a requirement on Rockefeller beyond the requirements of the Constitution.

In his statement, Rockefeller detailed his career in national and state office, including his three unsuccessful bids for the presidency.

He said the "most agonizing" event of his governorship was the loss of lives at Attica State Prison in 1971, but he defended his decision to quell an inmate rebellion as the "best at the time under all of the existing circumstances." Forty-three persons died as a result of the uprising, most of them when law officers stormed the prison behind a fusillade of rifle and shotgun fire.

In his financial disclosure, he failed to answer questions about the over-all extent of his family's economic power, omitting information on stock holdings of Rockefeller-controlled tax exempt foundations and of banks and companies in which his family has a substantial interest.

Highlights of his financial disclosure included:

—His net personal worth as of Aug. 23 was $62.5 million with more than half — $33.5 million — of his $64.1 million in assets accounted for by art holdings, $12.8 million in stocks and bonds of some 50 companies, and $11.2 million in real estate.

Jordan to boycott Middle East talks?

By The Associated Press

Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon today urged Jordan not to carry out its threat to boycott the Arab-Israeli peace talks in Geneva because of an agreement by Egypt and Syria to work for an independent Palestinian state on former Jordanian territory.

Allon, who is also deputy premier, said the neighboring Arab state is "an important partner in solving the Middle East problem."

Before leaving for New York to head Israel's delegation to the United Nations General Assembly, Allon criticized the Arab proposal as being "against the constructive interest of the Palestinians."

If it is adopted, he said, Jordan would cease to have an interest in the Palestinian question and the Palestine

Liberation Organization would have to negotiate by themselves.

Jordan's decision was announced on Sunday, the day after Egypt, Syria and the Palestine Liberation Organization announced they agreed that an "independent national authority" would be established on Palestinian lands freed from Israeli occupation.

Their goal is the West Bank of the Jordan River and East Jerusalem, both held by Jordan from the 1948 Palestine War until the 1967 Arab-Israeli War, and the Gaza Strip, which was administered by Egypt until the 1967 war.

Jordan insisted it must first retrieve its former territory and then would allow the Palestinian population to determine its future in a plebiscite. Many West Bank Palestinians are known to support Jordan's King Hussein and might vote for an autonomous state federated with the rest of Jordan.

"The government will as of today freeze its political activities connected with the Geneva conference," a government spokesman said in Amman. He stressed Jordan was thus "freezing" its earlier agreement to participate in any Geneva peace talks.

The spokesman indicated, however, that the decision was subject to change if the other Arabs changed their stand at a summit conference scheduled to open in Rabat, Morocco, on Oct. 26.

He emphasized that Jordan is willing to negotiate separately with Israel.

The conflicting claims to future control of the West Bank has been a major obstacle in Arab efforts to form a common front for the Geneva talks.

The absence of Jordan from the negotiating table would pose a serious problem for the Arabs, since King Hussein, a moderate, is more acceptable to Israel than Yasir Arafat and the other guerrilla leaders of the liberation organization.

Jury trial

A. Kiger and John H. Roszmann, argued that stabbing the youth was an unnecessary amount of force to halt the fight. They contended that the fight was instigated by Brown.

The jurors for the Brown trial were Raymond E. Reed, foreman, Herman Hillery, Leonard H. Smith, Barbara Kellenberger, Carol S. Arnold, Verna P. Williams, Ernestine Johnson, Olive Witherspoon, Lila Rodgers, Monroe Clelland, Ancil Creamer and Helen Smith.

LeMASTER is also charged with felonious assault. He allegedly produced a handgun during a domestic argument with his ex-wife and threatened a male friend of hers. County prosecutors Kiger and Roszmann will attempt to prove the action taken by LeMaster was unprovoked or at least unwarranted.

Otis R. Hess Jr., defense counselor, expects to show the gun was drawn in self-defense, and used to scare the male companion, not to wound him, and therefore justified under the circumstances.

The selection of jurors began at 9 a.m., and testimony will begin after the lunch break.

Included in the list of witnesses who are expected to testify in the trial are Police Specialist Dennis Brown, LeMaster's exwife, her male friend, and LeMaster, himself, among others.

Winner in Britain likely to be loser

By FRED COLEMAN
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The prediction making the rounds here is that whoever wins next month's election will fail to solve Britain's problems.

The Laborites and Conservative have tried for a decade without success to arrest Britain's long postwar economic decline. Once again the same men are offering much the same policies.

The Liberals and other small parties suggest new ideas, but they come from men with no governing experience.

Various coalition governments remain possible if, as in February, the British public denies a majority in Parliament to any one party. But peacetime coalition governments in Britain have a poor record.

In short, wherever the British voter turns — to major parties, to minor ones or to coalitions — the prospects appear less than encouraging. Politicians in all parties agree that in the Oct. 10 election the British democratic system could be on trial.

Part of the problem is beyond Britain.

All parties cite Britain's annual inflation rate of 16.9 per cent as the top issue in the campaign. Yet inflation is a worldwide problem and other countries have had little more success than Britain in slowing down soaring living costs.

As an island which imports half its food, Britain must trade profitably with the outside world to live. Yet the annual trade deficit is now running to some $10 billion, which can only force living standards down.

At least a third of that loss is due to the quadrupling of Arab oil prices. Britain must import 80 per cent of its fuel until North Sea oil starts flowing in the 1980s.

Not all problems, of course, are beyond Britain's control. But some have been left beyond the politicians in the past decade.

Neither Labor nor the Conservatives were able to intervene to control the strikes of British unions or the decisions of British managements which lost markets and led to the collapse of household names like Rolls-Royce.

Now inflation is the biggest problem.

High feed costs hit hog farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — High costs of feed and other items continue to have an impact on future plans of hog farmers, a new inventory report by the Agriculture Department shows.

As of Sept. 1, the department said Friday, the inventory of hogs and pigs in 14 states which account for most of the nation's pork totalled 50.2 million head. That was down 4 per cent from a year ago.

The total included a 3 per cent cut-back in 10 Corn Belt states where the inventory was put at 44.4 million head, the smallest number on Sept. 1 since 1965.

Looking ahead, the report said farmers in the 14 states indicate they will have 2.3 million sows farrowed in the September-November quarter, down 10 per cent from last fall.

And they intend to have 2.0 million raise litters in the winter quarter, down 10 per cent from last December-February.

The report supported earlier estimates by USDA that farmers are continuing to hold down production and that it may be late next year before substantial increases are seen.

Drought this summer and a reduced corn crop is part of the reason. Also, for about two years, there has been widespread uncertainty among farmers as to what may happen next.

Prices for slaughter hogs rose to record highs little more than a year ago, but those have since gyrated widely. Meantime, corn prices have climbed steadily.

By mid-September, when hogs were selling for around $35 per hundredweight, corn was $3.50 per bushel in the Midwest. Expressed as a ratio, that means 100 pounds of liveweight hog brought only enough on the market to buy about 10 bushels of corn, about one-half the amount of a year ago.

Department economists think hog prices may weaken in the final months of 1974 as more beef competes on the market, a factor that could persist well into next year.

Stock list turns tail

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned tail on some early gains today as a hoped-for reduction in the prime lending rate failed to materialize.

The noon Dow Jones industrial average dropped 3.29 to 667.47, but advances maintained a 2-to-1 lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Traders apparently were hoping early in the session that a major bank might lower its prime rate — that extended to best business short-term borrowers — in view of the Federal Reserve's recent easier credit stance. But First National Bank of Chicago kept its prime at the prevailing 12 per cent, and investors cashed some of the day's early gains.

The most-active Big Board issue was the Southern Co., off 1/4 at 10 1/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 0.42 at 67.10.

Autumn arrived today but early morning temperatures were more winter-like around Ohio as the mercury dipped to record levels in the 20s and 30s.

The National Weather Service said a new record for Sept. 23 was set in Columbus at 4 a.m. when the airport thermometer read 34 degrees. The old mark of 35 was set in 1967.

A low of 37 Sunday night also snapped the Sept. 22 record of 38 set in 1889.

It was much the same around the state, except along Lake Erie, where cloudiness kept the temperatures up.

Toledo was the coldest spot this morning with a 26-degree reading. Findlay had 33, Dayton 34, Cincinnati 35, Zanesville and Canton-Akron 36 and Cleveland 38.

The weather service said a high pressure area centered over Ohio would move eastward today, allowing for a warming trend to begin tonight and Tuesday.

Lows tonight will be mostly in the mid 30s to low 40s and highs Tuesday will be back in the mid 50s and mid 60s.

A chance of showers each day. Mild days with highs in the 70s. Cool early Wednesday with lows in the 40s. Warming by Thursday night to the upper 40s and mid 50s.

Chief Justice

hurt in mishap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger is expected to remain hospitalized most of this week with injuries received in a bicycle accident, a Supreme Court spokesman said today.

The spokesman said doctors now believe Burger was struck a glancing blow by a passing automobile in the accident Friday night. It was believed at first that his injuries were caused only by falling from his bike while attempting to avoid the car.

Burger, 67, suffered a broken ring finger on the right hand, a cartilage separation on a rib and a cut over an eye which required several stitches. These injuries are believed to have been caused by the fall.

Kissinger warns

oil countries

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — In a blunt warning to Arab oil producers, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today a world poised on the brink of general depression cannot afford current petroleum prices, much less continuing increases.

The poorer nations, many of them trying desperately to cope with food shortages, could be overwhelmed in a never-ending inflationary spiral, Kissinger told the 29th session of the U.N. General Assembly.

While oil producers are entitled to "a fair share," Kissinger said, "it cannot be in the interest of any nation to magnify the despair of the least developed who are uniquely vulnerable to exorbitant prices and who have no recourse but to pay."

Arabs warned by U.S.

DETROIT (AP) — Raising a warning flag for Arab oil producers, President Ford declared today, "Sovereign nations cannot allow their policies to be dictated, or their fates decided by artificial rigging and distortion of world commodity markets."

In remarks prepared for the ninth annual World Energy Conference here, Ford said:

"It is difficult to discuss the energy problem without lapsing into doomsday language. The danger is clear. It is severe. I am nevertheless optimistic. The advantages of cooperation are as visible as the dangers of confrontation. And that gives me hope as well as optimism."

Ford underscored the strongest language yet used by an American president in discussing the consequences of massive price hikes by oil-producing nations with a reminder that

Red China at historic crossroads

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

China now has had 25 years of Communist rule and the Chinese People's Republic at this moment obviously stands at a historic fork in its revolutionary road.

For China's 800 million, jolting change may be just ahead. The leaders who founded the CPR still rule it, but they are advanced in years. The time has to be close by when nature will dictate that others take over. Those others now stand in the wings. The evidence points to tense struggle.

The quarter century brought earthshaking changes to China. Yet much remains as it always was. "New" China is old in many respects, as much an enigma as the Middle Kingdom of the distant past.

Who will rule China's destinies after the deaths of giants like Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai? Few except China's own inner circle can do better than educated guessing about what really takes place in Peking's mysterious politics.

On Oct. 1, 25 years ago, Mao stood atop the Gate of Heavenly Peace and gazed down at teeming, hysterical millions of ragged and tired people in vast Tien An Men Square.

From atop the purple wall Mao, then 55 and in glowing health despite the rigors of civil war, proclaimed the People's Republic. It succeeded the shattered Kuomintang regime of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who fled with his remnants to set up a government on the island of Formosa, now called Taiwan.

"The Chinese people have stood up," intoned Mao, his moon face solemnly benevolent. "Nobody will insult us any more."

Never again, he pledged, would

China be abused by the colonial foreigner.

There followed vast purges of "enemies of the people," Peking's entry into the Korean War, political upheavals that toppled stalwart party veterans, a violent quarrel with a Soviet leadership which sought to dictate China's revolutionary future, internal struggles that damaged even Mao's position, bad crop years, years of natural calamities. All that was prelude to the incredible storm that burst early in 1966, the "great proletarian cultural revolution."

After three years of uproar, terror and wanton cruelty spearheaded by legions of teenage Red Guards, China gasped for breath. Her economy was damaged, her educational system hurt, her party and government structures shredded, her image abroad smeared. Many a luminary had fallen, including the redoubtable Liu Shao-chi, who in 1959 replaced Mao as chairman of government.

The violence subsided in mid-1969 and the ninth Communist congress adopted a new party constitution anointing Defense Minister Lin Biao as Mao's successor. A new central committee was to-heavy with military names.

The cultural revolution seems to have depersonalized Mao, turned him into an institution, a sort of godhead. Nearing 81, Mao retains enormous authority and evidently has been able to enforce a balance that keeps the factions from each other's throats.

Maoist China worries thoughtful outsiders. In possession of nuclear arms, China seems to have a dangerously simplistic view of the world. Her leaders profess to see the United States and the Soviet Union vying for global domination, their detente a "sheer hoax." In the world they see, the superpowers and rich nations plunder the poor Third World which Peking seeks to champion.

Yet Peking describes both "Soviet revisionist expansionism" and "United States Imperialism" as paper tigers, seeing America beset by political and economic crisis and the Kremlin running afoul of popular resistance at home and abroad.

Palpably China herself has plenty of domestic trouble, however, and on top of that the political situation appears to have become stickier as the health of 76-year-old Chou declines.

As matters stand, China has no head of government, no minister of defense, no armed forces chief of staff. Many important posts remain vacant in the wake of the cultural revolution and the subsequent shocking purge of Defense Minister Lin Biao.

The deep Lin purge began three years ago. He was accused of a list of crimes including "a wild attempt" to make China a colony of "the Kremlin swindlers" and plotting to kill Mao. Peking says Lin died in a plane trying to flee to Moscow.

A noisy campaign against Confucius, whose 2,524th birthday is Sept. 21, suggests the Lin purge continues, directed at the provinces where Lin's military influence was strong.

"The party must rule the gun" has appeared as a slogan, as it had before when the military pushed the bureaucracy too hard. But the power picture is difficult to fathom.

In foreign policy, however, there's little prospect in the foreseeable future of China ending her feud with Moscow, and with 60-odd Soviet divisions on the frontier facing China's more numerous but less mightily armed forces, the regime is likely to continue to want its opening to the United States as a counterweight.

Weekend crashes claim 16 lives

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents in Ohio over the weekend claimed 16 lives, with more than half the victims dying in collisions involving only one car.

There were two double-fatality wrecks during the weekend period, which began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The dead:

SUNDAY

MARYSVILLE — Raymond Shumacher, 22, of Columbus, in a two-car smashup on U.S. 33 in Union County.

CLEVELAND — Leon Chames, 36, of Cleveland, killed when he was struck by a car on a city street.

CINCINNATI — Kenneth A. Gardner, 71, of Cincinnati, when his car struck a bridge abutment on a Cincinnati street.

Man sought for escape

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— A 21-year-old Pennsylvania man was being sought near Pittsburgh after boring through a wall in the Mahoning County jail here and lowering himself six floors on knotted blankets to freedom, authorities said Sunday.

Police identified the escapee as Bruce Grope of Alliquippa, Pa., serving a sentence for armed robbery.

A second escapee, Kenneth Hazelett of Youngstown, was recaptured near the jail, officers said.

Legs dangling near a jail window tipped deputies off to the escape attempt, a sheriff's spokesman said. A line of inmates reportedly was discovered on the sixth floor waiting to use the escape route.

An inmate fell to his death attempting a similar escape a year ago.

ZANESVILLE — Randall Jackson, 25, of Zanesville, in a one-car accident in Muskingum County.

FREEPORT — Larry K. Jones, 19, of Freeport, in a one-car accident in Harrison County.

DAYTON — Larry D. Smith, 29, of New Carlisle, when hit by a car as he was walking along Ohio 202 in Montgomery County.

Death for a death

The depressing futility of capital punishment is illustrated in the case of Marcus Wayne Chenault. This mixed-up youth who calls himself Servant Jacob and claims to have been sent by God when he murdered Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s mother and Deacon Edward Boykin in an Atlanta church has just been sentenced to die in the electric chair. One must ask: To what purpose?

The argument most often advanced in favor of the death penalty is that it deters others from committing similar crimes. Does anyone suppose that putting Marcus Chenault to death will be the thing that dissuades someone else from going on a crazy rampage of violence?

What of other possible reasons for requiring Chenault's death at the hands of the state? Is this to be construed as an act of vengeance? Is the execution intended to assuage the grief of the victims' relatives and friends - and, more to the point, is it likely to have that effect? Or is that fatal switch to be thrown simply to rid society of one who has placed himself beyond the pale?

The fact that we pose such questions should not be construed as showing any lack of sympathy for those bereaved by Chenault's senseless violence. No decent human being could fail to share their grief and their sense of loss. Yet in a sense this has nothing to do with Chenault's sentence.

Nothing the state can do to him will bring back Mrs. King or Edward Boykin. The nature of Chenault's crime argues for placing him behind bars where he can do no further harm. But to execute him, far from benefitting society in any way, would only announce to the world that we still live by the barbaric rule of "an eye for an eye."

Ohio Perspective

Conservative image is shed by state

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Add no fault divorce to the growing list of liberal laws which have all but stripped Ohio of its legendary midwest conservative image.

Effective today Ohio residents of six months or longer can simply go into a common pleas court and ask that their marriage be dissolved.

This year's legislature enacted the law, which is similar to one in existence for several years in California.

It joins on the statute books such once-unheard-of Ohio activities as Sunday booze and horse racing, a state lottery, voting for 18-year-olds and legalized Sunday sales, among others of lesser impact.

No fault divorce is among the first of many measures passed by the 110th General Assembly taking effect 90 days after being signed last June by Gov. John J. Gilligan.

A dozen taking effect this weekend will be followed by 30 more next Monday. The state's new law permitting abortions under certain circumstances went on the books officially Sept. 16.

Under the divorce bill, couples who have lived in Ohio six months may present to a court in writing their agreement under which their marriage can be dissolved.

The agreement would include what they propose to do about their division of property, alimony and child support, custody of minor children, visitation rights and other marital problems.

Both spouses would have to sign the agreement and ultimately swear before a judge they did so voluntarily.

Certain precautions are built in, including one that allows one or the other spouse to offer amendments to the original agreement and to request the court for an investigation. If either spouse withdrew from the agreement, proceedings would end. There would be no divorce.

The bill makes certain other less significant changes, including one that requires license applicants under 18 to undergo premarriage counseling up to 90 days.

Some other bills carrying a Sept. 23 effective date ease absentee ballot requirements, increase fees that can be charged by county recorders, require reclamation of areas around abandoned oil wells, permit school employees to be paid expenses for attending professional meetings and authorize right turns on red except where local traffic officials prohibit it.

The officials have until July 1, 1975, to issue the prohibition.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Prof denounces cancer research as population explosive

DEAR ABBY: A reader offered $100 to the charity of your choice, and you picked the Cancer Crusade. Abby, I think you made a poor choice. Curing cancer and other diseases of old age will create far worse problems for our society than it will solve.

Do you realize that if we find cures for cancer, strokes, heart diseases and kidney diseases, we will double the number of years between age 65 and death (at 96) for the average person? Coupled with the reduced birth rates, this means we will more than double the proportion of old people in our society, and we will astronomically increase the numbers of the very old. And while we go on looking for medical miracles to extend life, we condemn the increasing numbers of old people to a life of poverty and neglect.

I think it is wrong for society to try to offer people a longer life when we cannot assure them of a better life. That is why I favor a moratorium on life-extending medical research until the year 2000.

In times past, people looked to the old for wisdom and guidance. I think we need their guidance now. I would like to see the opinions of old people, and even of terminal cancer patients. I would ask them, "What is more important to you, a longer life or a better life?" And more generally, "What should society do to make longer life better?"

JOHN LOZIER, ASS'T PROFESSOR, ANTHROPOLOGY, W. VA. UNIVERSITY, MORGANTOWN
DEAR PROF: Your proposed "moratorium on life-extending medical research" as an aid to population control is, to say the least, unique.

Personally, I would rather deal with the "problems" that result from reduced suffering and longer life, than return to the "good old days" when only the strong and lucky survived. And if this conflicts with the message of anthropology, I would be surprised.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are getting along in years and would like to make out our wills leaving everything we have to each other.

I don't want to go to a lawyer and go through all that "party-of-the-first-part, party-of-the-second-part" red tape. I just want to write a couple of sentences saying my wife and I want to leave all our worldly goods to each other.

DEAR S AND S: Wills are a touchy business. Their validity is subject to many unforeseen conditions, including a wide variety of state laws. Let a lawyer translate your intentions into a binding document. You'll be glad you did.

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing this letter just to say a few words to "No Complaints." (She said big noses and flat bosoms are "in.")

I don't know what magazines you read, honey, but in all the ones I see, the models do wear bras. Further more, if big noses and flat busts are "in," it sure beats me why most guys would sooner take out a good-looking big-bosomed girl than a big-nosed, flat-chested one (assuming they are both intelligent and have good personalities).

I'm not putting anyone down, just voicing my opinion. If "No Complaints" is happy, then good for her. But for those other flat-chested girls who aren't a little padding never hurt anybody.

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . By John P. Roche

Purge the CIA 'heavies'

WASHINGTON — One can approach the recent allegations and quasi-revelations about the activities of the Central Intelligence Agency in Chile from at least three different perspectives. First, the moral question of the legitimacy of American interference in the internal affairs of any type of foreign state. Second, the moral question of the lack of candor of top American officials when queried by Congress on the matter. And third, the pragmatic issue of the wisdom of this particular attempt, or series of attempts, to affect the Chilean political balance.

As usual, all Washington discussions of the problem hopelessly mix up the moral and the pragmatic questions. A good dozen Congressmen and Senators are in search of a Mount from which to deliver their Sermons; commentators are arguing, some quite hysterically, that the President and his officials have no right to lie to Congress and the people; and poor Pat Moynihan, out there in India, is upset because he thinks Prime Minister Indira Gandhi will suspect the C.I.A. of plotting her downfall. (Actually, as is well known, the C.I.A. put her in office — if you don't believe me, check with Peking.)

I am the last man in the world to criticize morality, provided it is founded on a consistent body of principles. A pacifist, who opposes all use of force and violence, overt or covert, has my full respect. So does the dedicated left-winger who says American activities are inherently imperialist, immoral and reactionary. They have no moral jokers secreted in the deck. But when it comes to characters who ooze piety in one area and sound like Machiavelli in others, I sign off. When, to take a case in point, you discover a prophet calling for a total economic blockade of South Africa, "an undemocratic, racist nation," ask him how he feels about doing business with the world's two largest prisons, the People's Republic of China and the Soviet Union. If he says, "Oh, that's different," you are dealing with a weasel. (Unless, to repeat, he is a committed Communist.)

Anybody in his right mind — who is not a saint — recognizes that the President and other high Administration figures must lie on occasion. If, to take an extreme example, the President is asked at a press conference (or the Secretary of State is asked by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee), "Have we cracked the Soviet and Chinese codes?" what is he supposed to say? (Let me note parenthetically that I haven't the foggiest idea of the current answer, but the fact that during World War II we had broken the Japanese code made the victory at Midway possible.)

Or, to take a lesser case, suppose the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board is asked about the Board's attitude toward loosening credit. He may know that a decision is to be announced the next morning, but in the meantime elaborate international precautions are being instituted. Does he have to come clean at the risk of sandbagging the delicate international monetary equilibrium?

Saying this may get me thrown out of Sunday school, but I think it is vital that we penetrate the moralistic smog. The question is not, "Do we have the right to intervene in the internal affairs of other states?" We do that merely by existing: If Americans suddenly shifted from coffee to tea, 10 or 15 foreign economies would be destroyed. Moreover, the widespread support for the Jackson Amendment, relating to Soviet attitudes and actions towards would-be emigres, indicates that Congress is not perched on a high moral pinnacle. Indeed, I suspect that many of the "moral" critics of the C.I.A. in Chile would have been delighted if the Agency had helped oust the Greek junta.

So let us turn to the Chilean case and ask the serious questions. First, was the game worth the candle? Did an Allende "victory" (he only got a third of the popular vote) threaten any vital American interests? Of course, he was going to put the screws on various U.S. multinational corporations, but if that justifies intervention, we should be trying to throw out every Arab oil sheik. A reasonable prognosis was that Allende would do for Chile what Castro did for Cuba — turn a relatively advanced nation into an outdoor slum. That would be unfortunate for the Chileans, but their problem.

Second, I believe there should be thorough investigation of the way the C.I.A. worked, the character of its operatives, and the extent to which the C.I.A. payoff became a drunk-rolling operation on the part of the Chilean Christian Democratic politicians. In my experience the Agency's "black" operatives are right out of a central casting bureau run by the novelist Graham Greene. Director William Colby, an extremely able man, should launch a massive purge of the 'heavies,' of the Howard Hunts who are still around.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Mars, favorable, now promises increasing gains. But some minor situations may have to be ironed out before you can go ahead with long-range projects.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

If things don't seem to be going quite "as usual," ask questions. Some changes may have been made, some new procedure initiated of which you are not — but should be — aware.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

You seem to have the inside track now, so take advantage of it. Good opportunities indicated, but grasp them quickly or you could lose out.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Streamline operations to meet present needs. Some former activities may have to be dropped if they are not producing. But do not drop projects now running smoothly.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Solar influences stimulate intellectual pursuits and carefully directed ambitions. If impulsive or hurried, however, day won't please. Think constructively and avoid errors.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

You may be given some extra responsibilities but, if the end result seems worthwhile, accept them — ambitiously.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A better day than you may anticipate. You may have to ferret out some opportunities for yourself and figure out the most advantageous way of handling them — but these you can do.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You have more working for you now than you may realize. A person of influence is working for you in the background, and you will soon profit from some efforts you have long forgotten.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A day in which your innate competence and good judgment will prove profitable. A fine period in which to initiate new methods, present unusual ideas.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Be extremely careful to differentiate between rumor and fact, not to accept hearsay as accurate information. Some deceptive trends prevail.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

If well-planned in advance, you could now launch a new venture, but don't rush headlong into uncharted seas.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Discretion and secrecy may be your most important tools if you are aiming at some unusual business or financial objective. Don't telegraph your moves.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with high ideals and lofty ambitions; have the stamina and persistence needed to attain them. You are self-reliant, well poised and independent almost to a fault. Wherever you go, your personality makes you the center of attraction but, if for some reason, someone else is holding the spotlight, you tend to pout; may even do something bizarre to gain the attention you crave. Try to curb this form of egotism. You have enough going for you to be above such tactics. There are many fields in which you could find a successful career, notably: surgery, nursing, the law, politics. You could also attain eminence in any one of the arts—as your leanings and education dictate.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Alex Karras, the former ranking member of the Detroit Lions' defense department, returns to ABC-TV's broadcast booth tonight to help cover a pro football dispute between Dallas and Philadelphia.

But neither Karras nor ABC say they know yet if he'll be named the permanent resident of the chair vacated when Don Meredith jumped to NBC and his successor, Fred Williamson, was ousted after three games.

ABC says it still is pondering whether to hire Karras permanently or try making do just with regulars Frank Gifford and Howard Cosell for the rest of the National Football league season.

Karras, who carved out a new career as an actor and free-wheeling talk show guest after his playing days ended, was in Los Angeles last week and was asked if he signed a contract with ABC.

"Naw, I haven't done anything yet," he said, putting tongue in cheek. "I don't believe in signing contracts because it gives you a sense of responsibility to everybody and I'd rather get fired."

Karras, who made his debut last Monday on ABC's football show, broke into sportscasting two seasons ago covering televised games of the Canadian Football League.

He was among those whom ABC initially considered as Meredith's replacement, but theorizes he didn't get the nod because of "people who thought I might hurt the game in some respects."

"I'm not pointing the finger at (club) owners or anything, but an awful lot of people thought I didn't hold the National Football League in reverence along with the Johnny Mann singers or the American flag."

"That was my problem," he laughed. Did the NFL hierarchy object the most to the idea of him as Meredith's successor?

"Yeah, I think so," he said. "And I don't blame 'em because I've always been a rebel and the kind of guy who never really got along too famously with anybody when I was playing football."

An NFL spokesman said he knew of no objections to Karras. He also said the league has no say about whom the three networks hire as commentators.

Karras, who lavishly praised Cosell and Gifford for their help in his ABC debut, won't lack employment should ABC decide against him as a permanent third man in its Monday night football gabfest.

He's got a role this month in "Death Stalk," a made-for-TV film, and plans to emote next month in Chicago in "Growl Like a Bear," a serious football film he says he helped write. Who's the star of it?

"Me," growled the ex-Lion. Then he broke up. "Who the hell else."

Girl in college to learn farming

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Miriam Tuttle came to Wilmington College from New York to learn how to pick corn, clean a hog barn and deliver farm animals.

The 20-year-old coed is one of about 20 women enrolled in Wilmington's agriculture program this fall, one of two programs in the state.

The Rochester, N.Y. native said she has dreamed of farming since she was a child. Her background of growing up in a city gave her no idea of what rural life could be like, she said, until she came to Wilmington two years ago.

"I found that agriculture was not out of my range and the practical aspect of the field was available here," Miss Tuttle said.

Dr. Gerald L. Karr, associate professor of agriculture at Wilmington, said the class represents a growing number of women becoming involved in agriculture studies.

And, he added, most of the women in the program are showing an interest in the productive agriculture line, not in the agribusiness field as might be expected.

Karr said the field has been dominated by men, but 25 per cent of this fall's new students are women.

"There has been an increase in women and a diversity in the degree of students who have enrolled in the program," he said. "They are mixed between the traditional suitcase farmer's son to the young black students from New York City."

Miss Tuttle said she is preparing for the practical aspects of farming by combining education with her agriculture major in anticipation of teaching to finance the purchase of a farm.

More than 12 per cent of this south-western Ohio college's total enrollment of 625 students are involved in the agriculture program.

Marriage vows exchanged in Midway Presbyterian Church

Candelabra and vases of mixed flowers adorned the altar and candles entwined with ivy marked the pews of the Midway Presbyterian Church when Miss Melinda Cornell became the bride of Tom Smith.

The Rev. Curtis Hodgins performed the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Cornell, Rt. 1, South Solon, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith of Jamestown.

Names of the award recipients as well as those of six Ohioans to be inducted into the Ohio Conservation Hall of Fame were announced today by Ohio Department of Natural Resources director William B. Nye.

The 11 will be honored at a banquet Saturday night at Mohican State Park Lodge during the fall conservation workshop sponsored by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

Those to be inducted into the Ohio Conservation Hall of Fame are O.A. Alderman, of Wooster, state forester from 1937-1965; the late Dr. Edmund Secrest, of Wooster, past director of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station and Ohio's first state forester; Harry L. Armstrong, of Logan, state senator and chairman of the Agriculture, Conservation and Environment Committee of the Ohio Senate; Samuel G. Mrs. Carlson was active in the movement to have the Little Miami River designated a scenic river and was instrumental in revitalizing the League of Women Voters' Little Miami study and action group.

One of Mrs. Carlson's major interests is the establishment of guidelines for citizen participation in environmental decisions. She has handled an ever-increasing load of environmental duties for the League of Women Voters,

K-Mart extortionists, abductors found guilty

Three convictions and sentences in two K-Mart abduction and extortion cases have been obtained through the efforts of the S.S. Kresge Co. security department and the FBI, according to K-Mart officials in Washington C.H.

On September 17, Raymond L. Wyngaard, 36, Warren, Mich., was sentenced to a maximum of 40 years and a minimum of 20 years for the February 12 kidnapping of a Clinton Township, Mich., K-Mart manager and his daughter. The sentence was imposed by Macomb County Circuit Court Judge Walter P. Cynar.

Wyngaard has been found guilty of two counts of kidnapping, one count of extortion and two counts of felonious assault.

In Jacksonville, Fla., a U.S. district judge has accepted guilty pleas from Patrick H. Donohoo and Sheila Fawley and sentenced them to prison in the April 29 abduction and extortion of a Jacksonville K-Mart assistant manager and his mother-in-law.

On August 28, the judge imposed a 25-year sentence on Donohoo, 25, of Refugio, Tex., and a 12½-year sentence on Ms Fawley, 18, of Pittsburgh.

Federal charges are still pending against four other suspects in the Jacksonville case.

As previously announced, the Kresge Co. is providing additional protective measures in its K-Mart stores to prevent further kidnapping and extortion crimes.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

One of the classic examples of the Congress' myopic vision in dealing with inflation is the pending vote on the Asian Development Bank Fund. Essentially, this proposal increases the U.S. share purchases by some $362 million over three years and authorizes another $50 million in funds for the ADB's soft-loan window. The money involved in all of this would go towards credit for various projects in the underdeveloped countries of Asia.

Proponents of the funding increase argue in favor of the bill on several accounts. They say there are not defaulted loans, so the bank is operating efficiently. They say that the United States will reap billions of dollars in great trade with many of the countries having valuable natural resources. Furthermore, they argue that because of inflation, the American voting position and share holdings have dropped from 16 per cent to seven per cent. The projects approved for loans, also, appear to be for the public good, ranging from industry and transportation needs to agricultural projects and power plants.

Now, for a foreign aid project of sorts, which this must be considered, this might not appear to be such a bad investment, but I am strongly opposed to it as I have been for other projects of this type for one very convincing and

Rain soaks waterlogged Texas region

By The Associated Press

The rainy weather pattern that has saturated much of west Texas and southern New Mexico this past week continued to soak the already waterlogged region today.

Since last Tuesday, Hope, N.M., had nearly seven inches of rain and flash flood watches continued in effect in portions of southwest Texas as well.

Overflows from the rains caused flooding of the lower Texas valley to southeast of El Paso and residents were being evacuated. Other reports said water ranged from knee deep to chest high in the Cedar Grove area of the state.

There were also reports of the Rio Grande River flooding in the vicinity south of El Paso.

Early today more rains were scattered along the southern California region and another shower system was reported along Florida and the Atlantic Coast.

Elsewhere across the nation frost warnings were in effect from northern Missouri and eastern Iowa to the interior of eastern New York.

Temperatures ranged early Monday from 27 degrees at Marquette, Mich., to 84 degrees at Needles, Calif.

Tax rate changes noted for schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Franklin County auditor's office says real estate taxes will drop in nine county school districts next year, but tax rates will rise in Columbus and three suburban school districts.

The office said the changes are based on taxes to be collected to pay for bonds that have been sold.

Rates are to go up in Hamilton, Jefferson and Madison Local school districts and down in Bexley, Grandview, Scioto Darby, Southwestern, Upper Arlington, Westerville, Plain City, Reynoldsburg and Washington school districts.

overriding factor: the American taxpayer.

Our country is in such an economic state, we simply cannot afford giving out a million dollars here or a billion dollars there. Our national debt is over $505 billion and the payment on interest alone on this debt is an astonishing $50,000 a minute. Inflation is at 12 per cent and growing and a large part of the reason we have such a horrendous cost of living is we borrow huge amounts of money just to give it away to other countries.

I DON'T think there is a borrower in this country who could tell you what a "soft" loan is, let alone obtain one. Yet, while interest rates in the U.S. exceed 10 per cent, the ADB wants to use our money for easy loans to member countries at an incredible three per cent. The hard ones, mind you, go for a mere 7½ per cent. It would be the height of absurdity to spend money on credit in other countries when our own taxpayers can't get it just to put a roof over their heads.

As for the projects funded by the bank, there is more than enough need right here in the United States for many of the very same things. A few short weeks ago, Congress cut its original mass transit authorization in half on the basis it would be highly inflationary, but now it wants to spend millions for transportation, industry and energy loans on the other side of the globe. We are heading into another hard winter energy-wise and could certainly use every excess nickel and dime to alleviate the problem. We don't have enough power plants of our own and we've all had enough of increasing energy costs, but we can't seem to give enough to other countries which will eventually be used to alleviate similar problems in those lands. It is senseless.

Furthermore, I take particular exception to the fact that this is an increase in our spending commitment to the Asian Development Bank, a boost which approaches nearly half a billion dollars over three years. And, I fear it will be one of many for this program since the projects involved invariably will require additional funds in the future to keep them going. It is unfair and economically unwise to cut our domestic spending programs as we have because of inflation and then turn around and increase our allocations for foreign aid and related programs.

Consequently, I will vote against the Asian Development Bank Fund. In fact, the only "ADB" Congress should ever consider supporting would be and American development bank fund. I refuse, and will continue to refuse, to invest American money in an overseas stock with such obviously risky dividends — more inflation here at home.

Recycled materials used for bricks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Future builders may use bricks manufactured from concrete, masonry and glass rubble from demolished buildings on construction sites, a Battelle Memorial Institute researcher says.

According to Samar Chatterjee, head of a Battelle research team, about 60 per cent of the waste from demolition and construction sites is concrete or masonry.

Researchers are probing the feasibility of pulverizing the concrete waste along with glass to turn it into bricks to be used on the same project, he said.

Chatterjee said the process already is being marketed under the brand name of Tek Bricks, "but is not in full operation in this country."

"We found this a very satisfactory potential alternative. There are others, but they are not as well documented," he said.

Chatterjee said the team also is investigating methods of utilizing glass mixed with asphalt for paving.

"We have not given too much attention to plastic, because now it represents only about 2 per cent of the waste," he said. It is expected to increase in the next decade to only 3 to 5 per cent," he added and will probably go into landfill operations.

The study is being funded by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which expects to spend $2.3 billion on construction and demolition projects over the next three years, Chatterjee said.

"What we will do is to provide the Army with information to use as a guideline to select the most desirable waste-management alternative for a given situation, Chatterjee explained.

The research team already has some pilot projects in operations, but "once we have identified more alternatives, we plan to set up pilot programs on Army posts," he said.

Nixon jewels intrigue probers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cousin of Pat Nixon personally supervised the appraisal and insuring of an estimated $580,000 worth of jewelry at the White House from 1970 to 1974, the Washington Post reported today.

The value assigned by appraisers intrigued Watergate prosecutors because the total assets of the Nixon family totaled only $515,836 in late 1968, the newspaper said.

The exact ownership of the jewelry was unclear, the story added.

It identified Edward O. Sullivan, a 49-year-old Bronxville, N.Y., insurance broker who has handled all of the Nixon family's insurance, as supervisor of the appraisal and insurance of the jewelry. Sullivan was not available for comment.

Other sources have disclosed that the Senate Watergate committee has forwarded the data it uncovered about the Nixon family's finances to special prosecutor Leon Jaworski for further investigation. Members of Jaworski's staff declined to describe the value placed on the jewels by appraisers and Sullivan.

Knights hear report on leukemia campaign

A report on a leukemia fund-raising drive conducted here Sunday was presented at the regular meeting of the St. Colman Council No. 5386, Knights of Columbus.

Washington C.H. attorney Robert Simpson, who served as the campaign chairman, said the volunteers collected $117.30 in their solicitation of the Belle-Aire Subdivision.

Spy seeks wiretap decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department is supporting an appeal by a convicted Soviet spy for a Supreme Court ruling on the president's wiretapping powers to protect national security.

The controversial issue also is to be taken up by the Senate Judiciary Committee's subcommittee on criminal laws and procedures at hearings on Oct. 1 and 2.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe and FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley are to be among the witnesses.

A recently filed brief by Solicitor General Robert H. Bork in the case of Igor A. Ivanov, the convicted spy, agrees that issues raised in his appeal should be decided by the Supreme Court.

As stated by Bork, a principal issue in the case is whether it is constitutionally permissible to conduct warrantless electronic surveillance for the purpose of gathering foreign intelligence information.

Bork's brief argues that "a president through his attorney general may authorize electronic surveillance without prior judicial approval under his constitutional authority to conduct foreign relations and to protect the national security."

However, legislation introduced by Sens. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., and Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., would prohibit government wiretaps or electronic surveillance for any purpose without prior approval of a court.

Don Koehler, born in Denton, Mont., is the tallest living man, standing 8 feet 2 inches high. His twin sister is only 5 feet 9.

Greenfield man nabbed for shooting incident

GREENFIELD — A charge of felonious assault has been lodged against a Greenfield man in connection with a shooting incident last week at the residence of a Greenfield police officer.

Highland County Sheriff's deputies said Vernon R. Jenkins, 23, of Greenfield, has been charged with felonious assault in connection with the firing of a shotgun blast at the residence of Police Sgt. Gregory H. Hadley, Ohio 28, just west of Greenfield, late Tuesday night.

Jenkins, an employee of the Greenfield service department, was arrested shortly after midnight Sunday by Highland County Sheriff's deputies and Greenfield police officers.

THE SUSPECT is presently free on $5,000 bond and is scheduled to appear for a preliminary hearing Wednesday in Hillsboro Municipal Court.

Highland County Sheriff's deputies said an investigation into the incident is continuing and additional charges are pending.

Beef import ban remains in effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today the European Common market is not likely to end its beef import ban before next spring at least, a situation that could cause trouble indirectly for U.S. cattle producers.

A brief article in this week's issue of Foreign Agriculture published by USDA said the European beef import embargo, imposed July 16, was scheduled to end next month. But "current indications point to an extension" until next spring, it said.

Department officials have been working to encourage Common Market countries to reopen their doors to foreign beef.

The aim is to draw off supplies from Australia and other big exporting nations that otherwise might wind up in the U.S. market and thus contribute to

Filipino faces deportation unless Congress intervenes

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The U.S. Congress may be a 26-year-old Filipino's last hope to avoid deportation to his native land, where his family is associated with an outlawed political party.

Cesar De Los Santos is the subject of a bill proposed by U.S. Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., to grant him permission to stay. But Hamilton has been unable to win approval of the measure in the subcommittee on immigration, citizenship and international laws.

If a legal way to stay is not found, De Los Santos must leave the country Oct. 20.

The Filipino says that since martial law was declared in the islands two years ago, his uncle has been jailed for political beliefs. His wife's father and two uncles have been forced out of government posts because they were local leaders in the minority Liberal party outlawed by President Ferdinand Marcos.

Walter Brennan dies

OXNARD, Calif. (AP) — Walter Brennan played many different personality types over a half century, but he was known for brevity and simplicity in his own life.

Brennan, who died at 80 on Saturday after a long battle with emphysema, was noted for playing the grizzled sidekick to the big stars of Westerns early in his career. He later gained national fame as the wise and wisecracking grandfather, Amos McCoy, in television's "The Real McCoys."

Brennan's first Oscar was awarded for his 1936 performance in "Come and Get It," in which he played a lumberjack who ages from 25 to 75.

Two years later, he won an Oscar for portraying an 84-year-old man in "Kentucky."

In 1941, Brennan won again for his role as Judge Roy Bean in "The Westerner," starring Gary Cooper.

According to the report, Sgt. Hadley and his wife were in the house at the time of the shooting. Investigating deputies said there was apparently just the single blast and the sheriff's department was notified at 10:14 p.m. Tuesday.

Sheriff's deputies were dispatched to the scene immediately and an investigation was launched. Unfortunately, the shooting incident had attracted a large number of onlookers and the investigation was somewhat hampered.

Officials from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation at London have been assisting Highland County Sheriff's deputies in the case.

Law enforcement officers have been working on the assumption that the shot was fired from an auto. It is believed that Jenkins pulled up in front of the Hadley residence, stopped the car, aimed and fired the gun.

No one was injured in the incident and the only property damaged was the front door of the Hadley home.

a further weakening of livestock prices. Although imports of beef into the United States are down sharply from last year because of lower prices and good grazing conditions in Australia, there are fears of massive dumping when and if prices improve in 1975 and beyond.

Thus, if the European market can be reopened, officials say there would be less potential intrusion of Australian beef into the U.S. system.

Another article in the same publication described in detail how serious the European beef surplus situation — which led to the import embargo — has developed.

"Rather than a swiftly passing phenomenon, the oversupply could remain in to 1975 and 1976," the report said.

"If I go back, I probably will not be able to get a job," De Los Santos says. "I have nowhere to live since my family has sold all of its property there, and I could possibly be jailed."

De Los Santos brought his wife and three children to America to join his parents. His parents were obtaining citizenship, but it did not cover the son because he was married.

De Los Santos is employed as an inventory purchasing agent at a Cleveland furniture plant.

"Cesar is an asset to our country," says his boss, Emio Pavlyshyn, manager of the Kroehler Manufacturing Co.

"He's the kind of conscientious worker that is very difficult to find in today's working market," says Pavlyshyn. "He is holding down a job that five others before him failed in."

If attempts to gain permanent visitor's status fail, the young man also is considering entering Canada or seeking political asylum in the U.S.

The three Oscars were for best supporting actor.

The white-haired veteran appeared in hundreds of films dating back to 1923 and starred in four television series before retiring two years ago to his 11-acre grapefruit ranch in Moorpark, about 35 miles north of Los Angeles.

In the last year, he was in and out of St. John's Hospital here for treatment of emphysema. His wife of 54 years, Ruth, and three children were with him when he died.

Among his last acting roles were appearances in two successful movies written for television, "The Over-the-Hill Gang" and "Return of the Over-the-Hill Gang."

Commissioners eye watershed project

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners have received a letter from the Ohio Soil Conservation Service stating that the Rattlesnake watershed project is being considered as a priority project.

The letter, signed by Robert E. Quilliam, State conservationist, said that the department feels that a compromise can be reached with such agencies as the Department of Natural Resources and the Environmental Protection Agency. A balance between the environmental and economic considerations should be attainable, the letter indicated.

The commissioners responded by saying that they are pleased to see this project brought to the foreground, and they agree that a compromise can be reached.

It was again noted that the "Action Plan" meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 30, in the Mahan Building. The open forum will be held to allow area residents to react and suggest to the state department of transportation proposals for highway improvement in this area.

The meeting is highly favored by the board of commissioners, and they urge area residents to attend and express their viewpoints.

WHS graduate heads unique firm

Industrial designing is the challenging process whereby one attempts to combine the practical engineering required to create a product with the artistic touch of making the product attractive to the consumer.

It has been estimated that there are less than 100 industrial design firms of any size in the entire nation. One of them is the Dave Ellies Industrial Design, Inc., headed by Dave Ellies, native Fayette Countian.

HE IS the son of Mrs. Mabel Ellies, 224 N. Hinde St., and the late E.A. Ellies. He and his wife, the former Carol McCoy, and their four children now live in Columbus, the site of this home office. His wife is the daughter of Mrs. J.A. McCoy, 225 N. Main St.

Ellies graduated from Washington High School and Ohio State University before graduating from Pittsburg Institute of Technology. After starting with an office in Columbus, Ellies' company has grown to include offices in New York and Dallas.

The list of companies which have taken advantage of Ellies' consultation include Aluminum Co. of America, Chrysler Corp., Gulf Oil, Kimberly-Clark, Kroger Co., Pan American World Airways, J.C. Penney, Proctor and Gamble, Texaco, Westinghouse and Xerox.

Perhaps the key to his overwhelming success has been his own personal philosophy on industrial design. "In this design business you can't afford the luxury of operating in an ivory tower. You have to get right down there in the marketplace where it all is — and sometimes you must force clients to do the same."

Name black as caucus president

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of National Black Political Assembly say they view this weekend's election of an Ohio college instructor as president as a healthy sign.

Ron A. Daniels of Youngstown won the top office by a nearly unanimous vote of delegates from some 20 states. Daniels is an African studies teacher at Hiram College, and he unseated U.S. Rep. Charles Diggs, Jr., D-Michigan.

"He's a hard worker," a woman delegate from Wisconsin said of Daniels. "He won't hide himself behind some official title."

"It came as a surprise," Daniels said. "Three or four months ago we wouldn't have anticipated even being suggested for the national presidency."

Since its creation in Gary, Ind., in 1972, the black political organization, which claims a membership of 4,000, has filled its top slots with nationally known figures.

Other officers elected Saturday included Gary, Ind. Mayor Richard Hatcher, reelected as political council chairman and author-activist Imamu Amiri Baraka, of Newark, N.J., reelected as secretary-general.

Little support was shown by the delegates, however, to reelect Diggs, whose allegiance to the group apparently has been waning since a March meeting in Little Rock, Ark.

Ohio State University has 15 female cadets in its Army ROTC program.

DAVE ELLIES

He noted that too often companies become so involved in the technical and production aspects of their product, that they forget it is the consumer who buys what they make. If the final product is not attractive to the consumer, he'll never buy it to see how well it's made, Ellies explained.

About five years ago, Ellies' firm was retained by Kansas-based Cessna Aircraft Co. to help design the interior of its new Citation-series twin business jet.

"Cessna had a history of being a highly technical and production-oriented company," he said, "and they were fairly inexperienced with the business-jet market."

"But they knew this was a market where corporate-jet users generally preferred plush-up, custom-designed aircraft interiors, and they were concerned about the costly production problems this might entail."

"So what we did was come up with a kind of compromise solution where the main interior elements were standardized to the greatest extent possible, and yet with enough options to make each interior appear distinctive."

ALTHOUGH a great deal of the firm's work has involved aircraft design, he has pursued a diversification strategy in recent years so that his firm wouldn't become too closely identified with any one type of design.

Ellies figures that aircraft interiors are about 25 per cent of this company's business, with another 25 per cent each coming from product design and packaging graphics, 15 per cent from building interiors and 10 per cent from medical projects.

His design credits have included the West Virginia pavilion at the New York World's Fair; the Canadian pulp and paper exhibit at Expo '67 in Montreal; a new rotationally molded toy resembling a wide hoop called the Barrel O'Fun and produced by the Delp-hos Bending Co., and the Heartmobile, an emergency cardiac-care unit developed in conjunction with Ohio State University and others, and claimed to be the first of its kind in the U.S.

Rites canceled in church fuss

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — The Episcopal Church's internal controversy over ordaining women has surfaced at Oberlin.

The sacrament of Holy Communion was canceled Sunday at Christ Episcopal Church due to the church's refusal to recognize women priests.

The Christ Church Pastor, the Rev. L. Peter Beebe, told a packed church just before the service began that the eucharist would not be celebrated because two ordained women present could not celebrate the sacraments since their ordinations were declared invalid.

New rate request slated by company

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — City utilities director Robert Newlon says the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., which recently announced a 19 per cent rate hike, is seeking another one.

Newlon said if it is granted, the new request should be effective later this year.

Lyn Glenn Power speaker

Demo dinner set Sept. 30

Lyn Glenn Power, daughter of U.S. Senate candidate John H. Glenn, will be the featured speaker at a fund-raising dinner sponsored by the Fayette County Democrat Club Monday, Sept. 30.

Richard P. Kimmet, president of the Fayette County Democrat Club, said the fund-raising dinner will be held in the Terrace Lounge. A social hour will begin at 6 p.m. and a roast beef dinner will be served at 7 p.m.

Tickets, priced at $6 per person, can be purchased from any member of the Fayette County Democrat Club, Kimmet said.

Lyn is keeping this fall stumping the state in support of her father's bid for a U.S. Senate seat. After working in the primary election, she is continuing her travels, visiting fairs, outings and meetings.

"I BELIEVE in his abilities and his perspective on this country and its role, not just because John Glenn is my dad," Lyn said.

Born in Zanesville, Lyn already has a strong political background, working for the Robert F. Kennedy 1968 presidential election and for Wilson Riles in California, where she canvassed door-to-door.

Lyn believes canvassers "can do anything." She said, "I am convinced that I changed several hundred votes. I was surprised that people were so willing to talk at their doors. That personal contact was very important.

Although the family moved often when her father was in the U.S. Marine Corps, Lyn said the Glenns maintained a closeness. "We always spent lots of time together camping and hiking and doing things outdoors, as well as reading and then discussing things," she said.

From 1965-1964 she studied psychology, political science and sociology at Mount Holyoke. From 1968-1971 she completed course work

Teachers OK new contract

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Classes for the mentally retarded in Cuyahoga County were to reopen today after teachers accepted a new two-year contract granting them a 7 per cent pay raise, a county official said.

Confirmation that training for about 1,200 pupils at the county's 11 schools would resume came from Michael Donzella, administrator of the county Board of Mental Retardation.

A strike by about 280 teachers had closed the schools 13 days.

A spokesman for the board said legal matters were being worked out to reinstate the teachers who had been fired by a county judge. The judge had invoked the Ferguson Act which bans strikes by public employees and called off the contract talks.

A federal judge reopened the talks. In announcing the settlement Sunday, teachers said the pact called for reopening of wage bargaining in the second year, improvements in longevity pay, increased hospitalization benefits, partial tuition reimbursement and better grievance procedures.

Green Thumb project introduced in county

The Fayette County engineer's office will cooperate with the Columbus-based Green Thumb program by employing three retired area farmers to help spruce-up the county.

The Green Thumb organization is headed by Ms. Dorothy Ellinwood and has received strong support from Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan. The organization is a non-profit group to assist retired farm people.

Participants are employed part-time to help on county improvement projects for which the county does not have available manpower. They are then paid by Green Thumb.

The three persons slated to work in Fayette County will work approximately 20 hours per week and will be painting area bridges.

Mountain climbing toll rises sharply

By PIERO VALSECCHI
Associated Press Writer

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Amateur climbers are succumbing in ever greater numbers to the fascination of Europe's Alps, and the death toll on those treacherous slopes is rising alarmingly.

More than 700 persons lost their lives last year in Alpine accidents — 300 in Austria, 150 in Switzerland, 130 in Italy and another 120 in France.

With winter months still to come, more than 350 climbers have died in the Alps already this year.

Alpine experts from all four nations say the primary causes of these accidents are inexperience, inability and simple negligence.

"The mountain is treacherous and you cannot challenge it without knowing its tricks — the sudden changes in weather that turn paradise into hell," said a veteran French guide at Courmayeur, in the Mont Blanc massif.

He told of three French climbers who froze to death in a snowstorm on the Italian side of Mont Blanc. They had been wearing shorts and tennis shoes, he said.

"Some accidents of course are inevitable," said an official of the Italian Alpine Club. "But most are caused by inexperience and a crazy underestimation of the mountain's dangers.

"Highly experienced climbers who can climb without a guide are rare," he said. "No other climbers should start out alone, even on the so-called 'easy' routes."

To attack the accident rate, Alpine authorities are examining the possibility of mass information services warning tourists about the dangers of the mountains. Should this fall, they say, they might be forced to

Youth faces trial in nurse's slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— John William Harris, 18, of Columbus, was to go on trial today in the murder of a Columbus nurse May 9.

Harris, one of two men accused in the slaying, is charged with two counts of aggravated murder, which carry the death penalty. A jury also indicted Harris on charges of kidnaping, rape, aggravated robbery and grand theft in the killing of 45-year-old Jeanette Nichols.

Harris and three companions were arrested in Philadelphia, Pa., May 13. He has pleaded innocent to the charges and waived a jury trial.

City street crews will be berming, patching and mowing as well as beginning the autumn task of clearing leaves. Bill Duncan, city street superintendent, said that if the weather warms to any extent, crews will be fogging for mosquitoes.

State crews are preparing for the inspection of equipment at the state department of transportation garage Nov. 1. All vehicles are being cleaned, painted and prepared for the winter months.

Routine work on the schedule for the week includes berm work on U.S. 62-S, patching on 734, furnishing flagmen for bridge crews from Circleville on U.S. 62-S and Ohio 734-E, trash clean-up, rest area wash crews and mowing throughout the county.

ban inexperienced climbers from the more difficult Alpine routes.

The Italian Alpine club has more than 130,000 members, an increase of about 25,000 since 1970. But it says many of the members consider guides expensive and therefore expendable.

Guides on the most difficult routes charge up to $130 a day and $50 a day on the lower slopes.

"But life is worth this expense," said a French guide, "and any guide is cheaper than rescue operations ..."

The Italian Alpine Club spent more than $100,000 in 1973 helping members out of trouble. It charges nonmembers up to $320 for tricky rescue operations involving helicopters.

Pennsylvania eyes driving measure

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee hopes to reach a compromise this week on legislation that would permit motorists to drive legally even though their licenses may have been suspended.

Proponents say the law would apply strictly to drivers whose occupations require them to drive.

Opponents, among them the Pennsylvania chapter of the American Automobile Association, say the measure would keep reckless drivers on-instead of off-the highway.

Convict notes 99th birthday in Ohio pen hospital facility

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— John Weber says he is too old for freedom, so the nation's oldest convict will celebrate his 99th birthday Tuesday from the hospital facility in the Ohio Penitentiary.

A 48-year inmate, Weber, or "Dad," is weak and nearly blind, but still chipper as he nears the end of his first century.

"The years haven't been all that bad," says the native of Hungary. "There was a time when I wanted to be free again, but no more. I am too old and too tired. And there's no place to go."

Weber was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1926 for the shooting death of his 18-month-old daughter.

According to testimony, Weber apparently shot the child accidentally during an argument with his wife.

His bids for commutation and parole were turned down until 1972 when Gov. John J. Gilligan commuted his conviction to second degree murder, making him eligible for release.

But by then, it was too late. At 97, Weber was in failing health and had no place to go. The Adult Parole Authority decided the best place for the elderly convict was in prison where he could receive adequate medical care.

S. M. Patterson, superintendent of the correctional medical center, said Weber has not had an outside visitor or received mail in years.

"He did have some relatives, but I guess he's all alone in the world now," Patterson said.

Weber says he doesn't mind the confinement, adding "they're good to me here."

So on Tuesday, while Weber sits in a wheelchair, nurses will bake "Dad" a surprise birthday cake.

The Guinness Book of World Records lists Weber as the nation's oldest prisoner.

Americans send massive aid to Honduras storm victims

By G.G. LaBelle

Associated Press Writer

Americans are responding to the devastation in Honduras from Hurricane Fifi with money, medicines and other emergency supplies.

A Spanish-language radio station in Miami collected more than $20,000 within hours after issuing an appeal. New Orleans' large community of Honduran-born residents made donations at a half dozen relief centers, and two Mississippi Air National Guard planes left for Honduras early today with emergency supplies.

A Honduran Embassy spokesman in Washington said the greatest need was for medicine for survivors of the hurricane, which left 5,000 confirmed dead and an estimated 150,000 homeless.

In Miami, Honduran Consul General Antonio Valladares said there is a need for almost everything along the country's devastated coast.

"We don't have anything," he said. "We need everything, especially medical supplies, antibiotics, fuel to boil water, food and clothing."

Red Cross officials said local Red Cross chapters would take donations, and the Honduran Embassy spokesman said contributions could be sent to the Embassy or consulates in Atlanta, Boston, Los Angeles, Houston, Baltimore, New York, New Orleans, Miami and San Francisco.

A spokesman for the U.S. Agency for International Development's Office of Foreign Disaster Relief said Honduras hadn't officially requested American aid but the military was authorized to send medicine, other emergency equipment and medical and survey teams.

The Red Cross and Salvation Army also said they were sending personnel to help in the disaster.

Economic summit now in sight

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that hundreds of the nation's allegedly most competent theorists and practitioners have hacked their way through the economic foothills in eight presummit inflation conferences, the summit is in sight.

On September 27 and 28, President Ford and his staff will try to bring some focus to the scores of messages that have come forth from economists, labor leaders, government officials, bankers and others.

But the summit meeting will by no means be the culmination of the anti-inflation effort. More, instead, like the beginning. Opinion and fact has poured down in a torrent in the past three weeks and now it must be distilled.

That job falls to Paul W. McCracken, chief economic adviser under former President Richard M. Nixon. McCracken was assigned the temporary job of formulating an economic program.

Congress set to approve defense bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is expected to approve a record $82.6-billion defense bill this week, act on foreign aid and take up a health manpower bill that Senate Republicans claim "establishes a domestic draft."

The defense bill, up for House action today, is the biggest single appropriation bill ever put before Congress, even after a $4.4-billion cut from administration requests.

When House-Senate conferees agreed to the $82.6-billion compromise last week, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said the cut should mean an actual $2.6-billion spending cut, and "should have an important impact on reducing inflation."

The cuts include a $900 million slice off requested military aid for South Vietnam, cut to $700 million from $1.6 billion. But the Pentagon gets full funding for the new B1 advanced bomber and Trident long-range missile-firing submarine.

A controversial $5-billion, five-year bill denounced by critics as a domestic draft is expected to get a Senate vote by mid-week.

It provides federal aid for programs to produce more doctors, nurses and other professionals, including scholarships that must be repaid with service in doctor-short rural and inner-city areas.

Republicans on the Senate committee that produced the bill said such required service violates private enterprise. They vowed to try on the Senate floor to cut out the requirement and reduce the $5 billion.

Later in the week, the Senate is to act on a $2.5-billion foreign aid authorization that would phase out U.S. aid to Korea and provide Middle East aid stemming from the cease-fire there.

While L. William Seidman, the summit's executive director, maintained earlier this month that the effort wasn't "designed to be a decision-making apparatus," it cannot be anything but that, for political and economic reasons.

Evidence of restlessness comes from all sections of the country, and congressmen and others know that such murmuring generally is articulated at the polls. Besides, the worsening economic situation demands action.

As preparations for the conference proceed, the readings on the nation's health indicate a worsening fever.

The consumer price index in August rose 1.3 per cent, or one of the worst readings since 1947. Wholesale prices rose 3.9 per cent in August, meaning more retail price increases are already in the works. Industrial production is off. Unemployment may be rising. Housing already is in a depression.

At the same time, an area of bright sky has appeared as the summit comes into view. The sun hasn't burst through by any means, but short-term interest rates seem ready to fall. And Arthur F.

Burns, Federal Reserve Board chairman, maintains there'll be no further tightening of the money supply.

Two assessments of the presummit already can be made:

—The various conferences turned up very little that wasn't already known by the so-called experts, but there is little doubt that the meaning and dangers of inflation have been effectively publicized.

—There is no easy cure for inflation. There is no quick cure. There is no cure that will satisfy everyone.

Nevertheless, two wide areas of agreement have been demonstrated:

—Spending should be discouraged, especially excessive government spending — that is, spending that exceeds revenues.

—Interest rates are too high and should come down.

The disagreements were more obvious, not only among economists, for example, but between business and labor, housing and lenders, stock brokers and representatives of the poor.

Since no moves are likely to win complete approval, the most effective answer to inflation might eventually turn out to be leadership.

Cards, Patriots unbeaten

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

Both lightly regarded in most National Football League circles, the New England Patriots and St. Louis Cardinals remain unbeaten today following the second weekend of play.

New England, which stunned Miami in its opener a week ago, got three touchdown passes from Jim Plunkett and a balanced offense to upend the New York Giants 28-20 Sunday. And St. Louis, a narrow winner over Philadelphia in its first game, stung more prestigious Washington 17-10.

Those results left the Pats and Cards as NFL unbeaten along with some fancy company that includes Minnesota, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Pittsburgh and Dallas.

Philadelphia tries to knock Dallas off that elite list tonight in the nationally televised game that completes the NFL's weekend action.

Sunday's other scores were San Francisco 16, Atlanta 10; Miami 24, Buffalo 16; San Diego 20, Cincinnati 17; Cleveland 20, Houston 7; Minnesota 7, Detroit 6; Green Bay 20, Baltimore 13; the New York Jets 23, Chicago 21; Los Angeles 24, New Orleans 0; Oakland 27, Kansas City 7; and Pittsburgh 35, Denver 35, in the first regular season overtime game in NFL history.

Patriots 28, Giants 20

Plunkett hit flanker Randy Vataha and running backs Sam Cunningham and Mack Herron for one score apiece. Herron, scatback-sized at 5-foot-5, and Cunningham, a powerfully-constructed 6-3, contributed 150 rushing yards to beat the Giants.

Cardinals 17, Redskins 10

St. Louis struck for two touchdowns inside of two minutes and the defense made that margin stand up for the victory over Washington.

Defensive end Ron Yankowski went 71 yards with a recovered fumble for the first Cards' touchdown, then Terry Metcalf ran 75 yards from scrimmage for another.

Chargers 20, Bengals 17

San Diego ended Cincinnati's 14-game home field winning streak with quarterback Dan Fouts climaxing a 98-yard march by plunging in for the Chargers' winning touchdown.

Dolphins 24, Bills 16

Stalled by New England in its opener, defending world champion Miami got untracked against Buffalo, converting a pair of Bills' turnovers into touchdown passes by Bob Griese for the victory.

Doug Swift and Jake Scott recovered fumbles by O.J. Simpson and Jim Braxton, and Griese made the Bills pay for the mistakes with scoring passes to Jim Mandich and Marv Fleming.

49ers 16, Falcons 10

Skip Vanderbundt and Jimmy Johnson intercepted two Atlanta passes in the first five minutes and San Francisco turned the turnovers into touchdowns that beat the Falcons.

The 49ers also picked off another pass and recovered three fumbles against the Falcons.

Vikings 7, Lions 6

Chuck Foreman's 11-yard run in the second period provided the game's lone touchdown, but it was enough for Minnesota to defeat Detroit.

Foreman's score finished off a

Minnesota drive that had started at the Viking 42 and the defense made that TD stand up, limiting Detroit to a pair of field goals by Erroll Mann.

Browns 20, Oilers 7

Cleveland played opportunistic football, forcing six Houston turnovers and beating the Oilers with Greg Pruitt running for 89 yards and Mike Phipps passing for 141.

Jets 23, Bears 21

Bobby Howfield missed an early extra point kick but made up for that with a 39-yard field goal that gave New York its winning margin over Chicago. The Jets raced to an early 20-0 lead behind Joe Namath but almost blew it. Howfield's field goal nailed down the victory despite Chicago's late rally.

Packers 20, Colts 13

Green Bay intercepted four Baltimore passes to defeat the Colts with MacArthur Lane scoring two touchdowns.

Chester Marcol kicked two long field goals, one from 39 yards and the other from 52 for the Packers.

Rams 24, Saints 0

Los Angeles dominated New Orleans completely with John Hadl throwing two touchdown passes and the defense sacking Saints' quarterback Archie Manning five times.

Lawrence McCutcheon gained 102 yards rushing for the Rams.

Raiders 27, Chiefs 7

Ken Stabler fired three TD passes, two of them to rookie Dave Casper and the other to Mike Siani as Oakland whipped Kansas City.

Steelers 35, Broncos 35, tie

The first regular season overtime game in NFL history ended in a tie when Pittsburgh and Denver struggled through a scoreless 15-minute extra period.

Joe Gilliam, who passed for 348 yards, marched Pittsburgh to three second-half TDs but Denver came from behind for the tying TD when Otis Armstrong took a screen pass 23 yards with 7:08 left in regulation time.

Top 20 riddled with upsets

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

If the rash of upsets over the weekend is any indication, the theme for the young college football season will be entitled "New Faces of 1974."

For example, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois took some of the play away from Ohio State and Michigan in the Big Ten. Texas A&M in the Southwest Conference and Oklahoma State in the Big Eight will have to be reckoned with after impressive road triumphs. And Navy may have signaled an end to Penn State's long domination in the East.

It was a lost weekend for no fewer than eight of the Top Twenty teams. Third-ranked Oklahoma and No. 13 Southern California may have been lucky they didn't play.

Things began innocently enough with No. 1-ranked Notre Dame crushing Northwestern 49-9 and second-ranked Ohio State walloping Oregon State 51-10. Then the fun started with Wisconsin upending fourth-ranked Nebraska 21-20.

Alabama, rated fifth, survived with a 52-0 rout of Southern Mississippi and No. 6 Michigan blanked Colorado 31-0. But Texas A&M upset seventh-ranked Louisiana State 21-14, and unheralded Navy stunned eighth-ranked Penn State 7-6.

Ninth-ranked Texas smothered Wyoming 34-7 but didn't really impress anyone, and No. 10 Arkansas, an upset winner over Southern Cal a week earlier, lost a 26-7 contest to Oklahoma State.

There's more. Arizona State, ranked No. 11, defeated Texas Christian 37-7 behind sophomore Mark Lovett's two touchdowns and the quarterbacking of freshman Dennis Sproul. But 12th-ranked UCLA lost 21-10 to Iowa, which didn't win a game last season, and No. 4 Maryland bowed to Florida 17-10 on Tony Green's 74-yard gallop in the second period and Jimmy Fisher's 18-yard pass to Lee McGriff in the third.

The two teams tied for 15th, North Carolina State and Pitt, defeated Clemson and Georgia Tech, respectively, by scores of 31-10 and 27-17. No. 17 Tennessee downed Kansas 17-3 and No. 18 Arizona held off Indiana 35-20.

But the teams tied for 19th joined the ranks of upset victims ... and may be about to leave the ranks of the Top Twenty. Houston lost for the second time in three outings, bowing to Miami of Florida 20-3, while Stanford fell to 0-2 with a 41-7 battering at the hands of Illinois.

Wisconsin's jubilant Badgers chanted, "We're No. 1!" outside Coach John Jardine's office after nipping Nebraska on Gregg Bohlig's 77-yard pass to Jeff Mack with 3½ minutes left.

Texas A&M's Wishbone accounted for 417 rushing yards against LSU's vaunted defense, including touchdowns runs of 10 yards by Skip Walker, 50 by Bubba Bean and one yard by Bucky Sams to cap a 37-yard drive in the final period.

Only the scoreboard showed Penn State a loser to Navy. The Nittany Lions had 20 first downs to Navy's eight and outgained the Middies 375 yards to 171. But they lost five of seven fumbles, missed four field goals, including a last-ditch 34-yard attempt by Chris Bahr, and had a two-point conversion pass broken up after scoring with 4:42 left in the game.

Abby Daigle's four field goals — a school record — and Wes Hankins' 83-yard punt return helped Oklahoma State to a 19-0 lead over Arkansas before the Razorbacks scored in the final period.

If it's true that only winners make jokes, 0-11 Iowa's locker room was a gloomy place last season. That has changed, too.

Kent State, Dayton lose perfect grid marks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A strange thing happened to Kent State and Dayton on their way to their third football victories...they lost.

The two were the only ones among Ohio's 34 football-playing colleges with 2-0 records last week.

But Ohio University ambushed Kent State 20-0 before a regional television audience Saturday, severely damaging the Flashes' hopes for a predicted Mid-American Conference title.

Meanwhile, Dayton's independent Flyers dropped a 41-21 decision at Bowling Green, powered by Dave Preston's school record five touchdowns, all in the second half.

Second-ranked Ohio State scored the first four times it had the ball and mangled Oregon State 51-10. Freshman Ray Griffin, a brother of heralded junior Archie Griffin, scored twice as the Buckeyes became 2-0.

Miami lost its winning streak of 13 games at Purdue, settling for a 7-7 tie with the Boilermakers. The Redskins had shared the longest streak in the nation with Penn State, beaten 7-6 by Navy.

Toledo dropped its second straight game of the season, losing to Villanova 7-0. It was Villanova's first road victory in 13 outings. The Rockets had the edge in the statistics, but four lost fumbles and eight penalties at crucial times cost them the game.

Marshall displayed a steady ground game and impressive defense in defeating Akron 17-7.

The Cincinnati Bearcats scored 18 points in less than five minutes in the second quarter to hand the Rice Owls a 28-21 defeat Saturday night in Houston.

In Hoosier-Buckeye Conference play, Findlay downed Anderson, Ind., 13-9 as fullback Pete Kiener ran for 94 yards and two touchdowns, and Bluffton beat Manchester, Ind., 13-7 behind fullback Ray Stroudmire's two-touchdown performance.

Presidents Athletic Conference action saw John Carroll defeating Bethany, W. Va., 24-15, by notching three TDs in the second half, and Allegheny, Pa., routing Case Western Reserve 39-0 as the Gator offense pounded out 321 yards on the ground.

Elsewhere, it was Youngstown State 35, South Dakota State 21; Edinboro, Pa., 21, Baldwin-Wallace 13; Slippery Rock, Pa., 31, Muskingum 0; Mount Union 27, Wooster 7; Albion, Mich., 14, Denison 7; DePauw, Ind. 21, Ohio Wesleyan 10; Heriott, Oberlin 7.

Wilmington 22, Rose-Hulman, Ind. 3; Central State 41, Lincoln, Mo. 7; Wittenberg 21, Ashland 3; Heidelberg 21, Ohio Northern 17; Marietta 21, Capital 6; Kenyon 31, Otterbein 30, Defiance 26, Adrian, Mich. 13.

DEFEATS PENN STATE — Navy head coach George Welsh is carried off the field by Navy defensive end Jeff Sapp (61) and other Navy players after they upset Penn State 7-6 at University Park, Pa.

Murcer's home run leads Yankees' win

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

The Yankees are in front in the American League East — but only by one game — after beating the Cleveland Indians 2-1 Sunday on Bobby Murcer's tie-breaking homer and the four-hit pitching of Pat Dobson and Sparky Lyle.

The second-place Baltimore Orioles remained one game back by whipping the Boston Red Sox 7-2. Boston is now five games behind the Yankees.

With the score tied 1-1 and two out in the sixth, Murcer cracked his 10th homer of the season, a blast off Cleveland starter Bruce Ellingsen, 1-1, that sailed over the 371-foot mark in right center. It was his second home run in two days, but only his second of the season at Shea Stadium.

Dobson gave up three hits over the first eight innings, but John Lowenstein singled to lead off the ninth. He moved to second on a sacrifice bunt and, after Frank Robinson walked, took third on a long fly ball. Lyle then relieved Dobson and retired pinch hitter Charlie Spikes on a tapper to the mound to record his 15th save of the season.

Bengals to lose tackle Vernon Holland

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Bengals suffered a major setback Sunday when team spokesmen announced starting offensive tackle Vernon Holland will likely be lost the remainder of the season.

The 6-foot-6, 280-pound Holland, Cincinnati's No. 1 draft choice in 1971, broke a bone in his lower leg, according to a team physician.

Orioles 7, Boston 2

Boog Powell's three runs batted in, including his 11th homer of the season, helped Baltimore beat Boston again Sunday.

Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver feels his club is in pretty good position, despite being one game back of the Yankees with eight games to play, but Boston skipper Darrell Johnson, said "We're just about going to have to win three in a row now in New York (Tuesday and Wednesday)."

Rangers 4, Royals 3

Ferguson Jenkins posted his 24th victory of the season, equalling Oakland's Catfish Hunter for the top figure in the majors. The Rangers won it with three runs in the sixth inning on just one hit.

White Sox 3, A's 1

Chicago's Jim Kaat stopped Oakland on five hits to raise his record to 19-13. The loss cut the A's lead over Texas in the AL West to 4½ games.

The White Sox went ahead 2-1 in the sixth on singles by Bill Melton and Ken Henderson, an infield out and a sacrifice fly. Henderson tripled in the eighth and scored an insurance run on Tony Muser's single.

Twins 6, Angels 2

Craig Kusick's run-scoring double highlighted a three-run outburst in the sixth inning that broke a 2-2 tie for the Twins.

Tigers 6, Brewers 5

Reggie Sanders drove in four runs with a single, double and home run and John Hiller pitched out of a ninth-inning jam for the Tigers.

Miller Barber wins Kings Island Open

MASON, Ohio (AP) — Miller Barber's victory in the Ohio Kings Island Open Golf Tournament turned the whole season around for the troubled, worried veteran from Sherman, Tex.

"You get to the point, Barber said Sunday after his front-running three-stroke triumph, "where you begin to think you're not ever gonna win again."

"I've been kinda down and out on myself. You know how that goes. It's been a very hard, complicated year for me. It seemed like all my bad luck was catching up with me at once."

"You know, the ball always bounced wrong. Every bad thing that could happen did happen. If I'm in a trap, I'm buried. If I'm in the rough, it's the deep rough. If I'm in the fairway, I'm in a divot. That kind of a year."

"Fortunately, I was able to turn it all

MT reserves stop Lions

With quarterback Art Schlichter and halfback Rex Coe guiding the attack, Miami Trace's reserve team opened with two touchdowns in the first period to score 24-6 victory over Washington Court House on the Panthers' field.

All of the Panthers' scoring was attributed to Schlichter and Coe. The two first quarter touchdowns came on a 53-yard pass from Schlichter to Coe and a six-yard run by Coe. The third period score came on a 40-yard pass from Schlichter to Coe. All three of the conversions came on runs by Schlichter.

Coe had a total offense of 150 yards. He caught four passes for 104 yards and carried the ball nine times for 46 yards.

Miami Trace had 151 yards rushing and Schlichter completed seven of 10 passes for 136 yards. Bill Warnock was the leading ball carrier for the winners with 65 yards in eight carries.

Washington had 100 yards, all of which coming on the ground, in the game. Mark Fisher, who had 105 yards in 13 carries, scored the Lions' only touchdown on a 81-yard run.

Chargers top Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—The monkey's off the back of the San Diego Chargers.

Scarred by a drug scandal that triggered a massive facelift, the Chargers buried the past Sunday with a confidence-buoying 20-17 upset of the Super Bowl-minded Cincinnati Bengals.

Terry Owens, an obscure nine-year veteran, said it best: "Right now I'm so excited I can't wait for practice to start next week so we can get ready for the Miami Dolphins."

Losers to lowly Houston in their season opener, the Chargers showed no resemblance to the weak sister entry which has finished last in its league the past two years.

Spearheading the victory was cool, young quarterback Dan Fouts, who calmly marched the Chargers 98 yards in the final quarter for the winning touchdown. He dove over on a sneak for the score.

Reds appear out of picture

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cincinnati manager Sparky Anderson, who a week ago said his team could lose only three more games to have a shot at the National League West title, was glum Sunday after the Reds dropped a 6-0 decision to San Francisco.

The loss was the Reds' fifth in six days and dropped them 4½ games behind the division-leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

"It hasn't been a very good week," Anderson said. "That theory about noncontenders being relaxed certainly worked against us."

Giants manager — Wes Westrum said pitcher John Montefusco "did it all" as San Francisco dealt a blow to the Reds' pennant hopes.

It was before a national television audience on Sept. 3 that Montefusco made his major league debut, pitching nine innings of relief and belting a homer in a victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Sunday, the rookie righthander showed he isn't playing favorites in the West Division race. Montefusco scored one run after hustling on the bases, hit his second homer and pitched a seven-hit shutout.

"Kenny Rudolph (catcher) called a great game," said Montefusco. "I don't use a curve very often, but Ken kept calling for it and it gave me confidence. Now, I have another pitch."

"I approached this game the same way I pitched against the Dodgers," he added. "We told me not to finesse the Reds, so I just went out and challenged them."

Steve Ontiveros' leadoff double and back-to-back homers by Dave Kingman and Chris Spier gave the Giants a 3-0 lead off loser Don Gullett, 17-11, in the second inning.

Montefusco singled with one out in the fourth, faced all the way to third when catcher John Bench was caught napping on a wild pitch and scored on Garry Maddox's infield single.

Montefusco's homer capped the scoring in the eighth. "I knew it was going out," the pitcher said, "because I broke into my home run trot right away."

Montefusco, 3-2, was tough under pressure, pitching out of a bases-loaded, none-out jam in the fifth and surviving a two-on, one-out situation in the eighth by striking out Bench and Tony Perez.

Bench, the majors' runs batted in leader with 122, struck out three times. "I threw extra hard to him," said Montefusco, who had seven strikeouts.

"Bench is one of my idols—I really like him."

St. Louis reliever Al Hrabosky survived both physiological warfare and a ninth-inning brawl that stemmed from it with two innings of hitless relief Sunday to beat the Chicago Cubs 6-5 on the strength of a run-scoring single by Ted Simmons with two out in the ninth.

The victory moved the frontrunning Cardinals 1½ games ahead of second-place Pittsburgh in the National League East. The Pirates were blanked, 4-0, by the New York Mets.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles increased its lead in the West Division to 4½ games over sagging Cincinnati with a 6-5 victory over San Diego, the Reds were shut out by San Francisco 6-0, Houston outlasted Atlanta 3-2 in 14 innings and Philadelphia and Montreal split a pair, the Phils winning 3-2 and the Expos 8-5.

Fittapaldi, Unser claim racing titles

Brazil's Emerson Fittapaldi knotted the international Grand Prix standings Sunday, while Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., ended any race for the American title.

Fittapaldi guided his McLaren to victory in the 200-mile Canadian Grand Prix on the dirt track at Mosport, Ont., taking the lead on the 68th lap when the Ferrari of Austria's Niki Lauda crashed into a guard rail.

The triumph tied Fittapaldi with Switzerland's Clay Regazzoni for the Grand Prix lead at 52 points entering the final race of the season, scheduled for Watkins Glen, N.Y. on Oct. 6.

Unser clinched the National Driving Championship for Indianapolis-type cars with a victory in the two-heat Trenton Times 300 at the Trenton Speedway. Driving conservatively, Unser settled for second in the first 150-mile event, then powered his turbo-charged racer home first for his second national title.

He took his first title in 1968, the same year he won the Indy 500, and compared the thrills of winning both: "Winning this title is second only to winning the 500," Unser said.

Twenty laps before Lauda's crackup at Mosport, South Africa's Jody Scheckter slammed his car into a guard rail. Like Lauda, Scheckter escaped the mishap uninjured, but he lost a chance to improve his second-place position in the Grand Prix lineup.

Attendance mark established in loop

CHICAGO (AP) — More than 500,000 persons watched Big Ten Football Conference home teams in action Saturday, establishing new NCAA and Big Ten attendance marks.

Conference officials said Sunday that 545,479 fans watched nine home non-conference games. The previous national and Big Ten record was set Sept. 29, 1969 when 463,077 persons attended eight Big Ten games, a spokesman said.

Two games open Pony League season

Dividends chalked up a 18-0 win over the Jaycees and the Interns and Marksmen fought to a 0-0 tie in the first football games of the Pony League season, Saturday evening.

Steve Kingery scored two touchdowns for the Dividends. In the first quarter, he romped 48 yards for a score and he also added a two-yard score later in the game. The other touchdown for the Dividends also came on a two-yard plunge by Jon Thomas.

Coffee for Overactive Children?

I read an article in the newspaper that coffee has been used to control overactive children. I am trying to track this down.

Mrs. C.H.W., Mass.
Dear Mrs. W.:

There has been reference in the scientific literature that hyperactive children have been treated with coffee instead of the amphetamine drugs.

It sounds paradoxical that amphetamines and caffeine, both stimulating drugs, should be effective in controlling overactive children. Yet they do.

It is interesting that a six-ounce cup of coffee contains about 100 milligrams of caffeine. A six-ounce cup of tea made directly from the tea leaf contains almost twice this amount of caffeine. A six-ounce bottle of cola drink contains about 30 mg. of caffeine.

Before anyone embarks on the use of coffee, tea or cola for treatment of their own hyperactive children they should first have the diagnosis confirmed by their doctor, who should be sensitive to the essential difference between a normally active child and one who is abnormally overactive.

It would be inadvisable for a mother whose child has momentarily gotten out of hand to use coffee as a means of controlling his activity.

My husband goes to his doctor, is examined, gets a prescription, never has it filled. Do many people do this?

Mrs. E.V., Nev.

Dear Mrs. V.:
Your husband is not alone in such behavior. It is said that at least one-third of all patients fail to follow their doctor's orders.

In some studies on this subject, it may go as high as 50 per cent.

Dr. Richard Gillum and Dr. Arthur Barsky recently did an in-depth study on why patients fail to comply with the medical regime doctors give them.

They conclude that "lack of money, lack of transportation, family problems at home and psychological reasons" contribute to the neglect of the doctor's orders.

Perhaps your husband can explain to you why he goes to see the doctor in the first place. Is he being pressured into going? Does he resent this?

DR. COLEMAN welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

Florida man hurt in crash

A Florida man was charged with reckless operation and injured and his passenger was also hurt, in an accident which occurred Saturday evening on I-71 south, six-tenths of a mile from the Ohio 38 intersection, the Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported.

The driver who was cited, David W. Gregg, 22, Port Richey, Fla., drove 420 feet off the west side of the interstate highway where he collided with six rods of fence belonging to Matt McDonald, of South Solon.

Gregg and his passenger, James R. Buchanan, Greenville, Tenn., were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by Morrow's ambulance service. Gregg was treated for back and neck pain and released and Buchanan was treated for head lacerations and transferred to the Veteran's Hospital in Dayton, hospital officials reported.

The Sheriff's Department investigated two other weekend mishaps and the Washington C.H. Police Department reported four weekend mishaps, in which no one was cited or injured.

AN ACCIDENT in Jeffersonville involving cars driven by Billie Jo Michael, 24, of 5510 Inskeep Rd., and George T. Combs, 71, Jeffersonville, occurred at the intersection of E. High and Main streets at 12:20 p.m. Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported and an accident also occurred at 9:20 p.m. Saturday, when a car driven by Gloria Ann Angus, 16, of 713 Oak Dr., backed into a parked auto belonging to Pauline Southworth, 920 Rawlings St., in the Roller Haven parking lot, CCC-Highway-W.

Washington C.H. police reported the following accidents:
SUNDAY, 12:22 p.m. — Cars driven by Rosalind J. Turley, 26, of 4630 Snowhill Road, and Leo R. Bogenrife, 52, of 413 Lewis St., incurred slight damage when they collided at the intersection of the Rendezvous Restaurant driveway and Court Street.
12:52 p.m. — An auto belonging to Bette R. Herbert, Good Hope, was struck by a hit-skip driver while parked in the Fayette Center parking lot. Damage was estimated as moderate.

1:07 p.m. — An accident at the intersection of Market Street, Columbus Avenue and Lewis Street, involved a truck driven by Carlos D. McCarter, 69, Davison, Mich. and a car driven by Joseph R. Tilliett, 49, of 616 Perdue Plaza. Damage was minor.
11:21 a.m. — Moderate damage was incurred by cars driven by Kenneth J. Thomas, 21, Orlando, Fla. and Robert G. Tudor, 25, Grove City, when they collided at the intersection of Columbus and Washington Avenues and Court Street.

Young, old attend organ recital here

An organ recital, featuring two young Columbus musicians, was held Sunday in the Grace United Methodist Church. A large and widely-varied audience attended the recital.

The audience, comprised of young and old alike, heard an outstanding combination of traditional, classical and modern music.

Frank Miller and Greg Luckhaupt were the organists. Miller opened the program with a brilliant of the exuberant "Now Thank We All Our God" by Bach. The music maintained its high level of excellence through to the conclusion, Luckhaupt's exciting rendition of "Carillon-Sortie" by Mulet.

The concert was sponsored by the Washington C.H. Organ Club, which will sponsor its next concert at 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 27. The program will present Mrs. J. Walter Lange, organist of the Broad Street Presbyterian Church.

Included in the pieces played Sunday by Miller were "Loccata and Fugue in D Minor," "Finale from Sonata I," "Carillon," "How Great Thou Art," and "Amazing Grace."

Luckhaupt played "Introduction and Loccata in G Major," "Sketch in Db Major," "Rubig bewegt from Sonata II," "Roulade," and "Greensleeves."

Miller is the organist at the Broad Street United Methodist Church, and Luckhaupt is a senior at Ohio State University and organist at St. Joseph's Cathedral.

Art theft mastermind faces Hough

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Donald Johnson, the alleged mastermind of the theft of two Rembrandt paintings here last December, was scheduled to be a witness for the prosecution as the trial of James Hough continued today.

Hough is charged with extortion, receiving stolen goods and harboring a felon in connection with the theft of the paintings from the Cincinnati Art Museum.

Johnson, granted immunity from prosecution for armed robbery, made a brief appearance in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court on Friday.

Johnson stood before a witness who shared a real estate office with Hough and Fred Cartolaghe, chief assistant Hamilton County prosecutor asked: "Was this the man James Hough introduced you to in 1969 or 1970?"

"Yes," replied Glenn Bennis.

Hough earlier told the jury in his opening statement that he had met Johnson for the first time in 1972.

Simon L. Leis Jr., Hamilton County prosecutor, said in his opening statement that Johnson had talked with Hough in the late winter or spring of 1973 about disposing of the paintings.

Once it was established that they could be disposed of, Johnson began planning the theft.

Hough, who conducted his own defense, insists that the thieves contacted him as an intermediary. He has denied having knowledge of any of the men accused of the theft and ransom beforehand.

A Cincinnati police lieutenant said the four men arrested in connection with the case denied knowing Hough. All have received reduced charges after agreeing to testify during the Hough trial.

Foundation eyes cuts

NEW YORK (AP) — A Ford Foundation spokesman says inflation and a depressed securities market may force the nation's wealthiest philanthropic organization to cut annual grants as much as 50 per cent.

The spokesman said on Sunday that the organization's assets have plummeted from $3 billion to $2 billion in market value during the past year.

McGeorge Bundy, president of the foundation, said that without a reduction in grants the foundation may have to dissolve by distributing its assets.

Such a dissolution proposal was rejected by the foundation's trustees seven years ago.

The trustees are expected to face a proposal to reduce the $202-million annual budget at their quarterly meeting here this week.

If approved, the cuts would not take effect within a year and all current commitments would be honored, according to the spokesman. But he added that a final decision on cuts or dissolution may not be made until next spring.

Drug overdose reported here

A 17-year-old area youth took an overdose of pills after an argument with his father Saturday evening, Washington C.H. police reported. The youth was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital and later transferred to University Hospital in Columbus, where he was released early Sunday morning.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported a motorcycle injury, a cat bite and an incident of vandalism over the weekend.

David T. Payton, 19, of 917 Washington Ave., was injured at the Edgar Coil residence on Wildwood Road at 7:15 p.m. Friday.

Payton sustained multiple lacerations to his lip and chin when the motorcycle he was riding in a field struck a ditch causing his face to hit the front gauges.

He was treated at Fayette Memorial and then released, the Sheriff's Department reported.

Four-year-old Kimberly Jo Rhoads, 824 Maple St., was bitten on the hand by a cat while visiting at 2983 Old Springfield Rd., at 3:20 p.m. Sunday. She was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, treated and released, sheriff's deputies stated.

A mailbox support post at the Roy Waterman and Carl Phillips residence in Mount Sterling was damaged by vandals sometime over the weekend, sheriff's deputies reported.

No samples on gold tour

FORT KNOX, Ky. (AP) — Fort Knox conducts a historic tour today for a select group of congressmen and newsmen — the first outsiders to examine the $20 billion worth of gold in the U.S. gold depository here.

The one dozen congressmen and 100 newsmen will get a glimpse of the 400,000 gold bars — there will be no samples and no touching.

The bars weigh 27.5 pounds each and are worth $64,000 piece on the open market.

The steel, concrete and granite structure measuring 105 by 121 feet on two levels cost $524,000 to build.

The tour is the first since the giant piggybank was built in 1936.

President Ford takes up tennis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford says he's taken up a new sport: tennis.

"You can't work all the time," Ford said Sunday evening in disclosing that he had played tennis on Saturday on the White House courts.

Ford, who played 4 1/2 hours of golf on Sunday, said he and his chief of staff, Alexander M. Haig Jr., had teamed up in the tennis match to play Dr. William Lukash, the White House physician, and Dave Hume Kennerly, the White House photographer.
